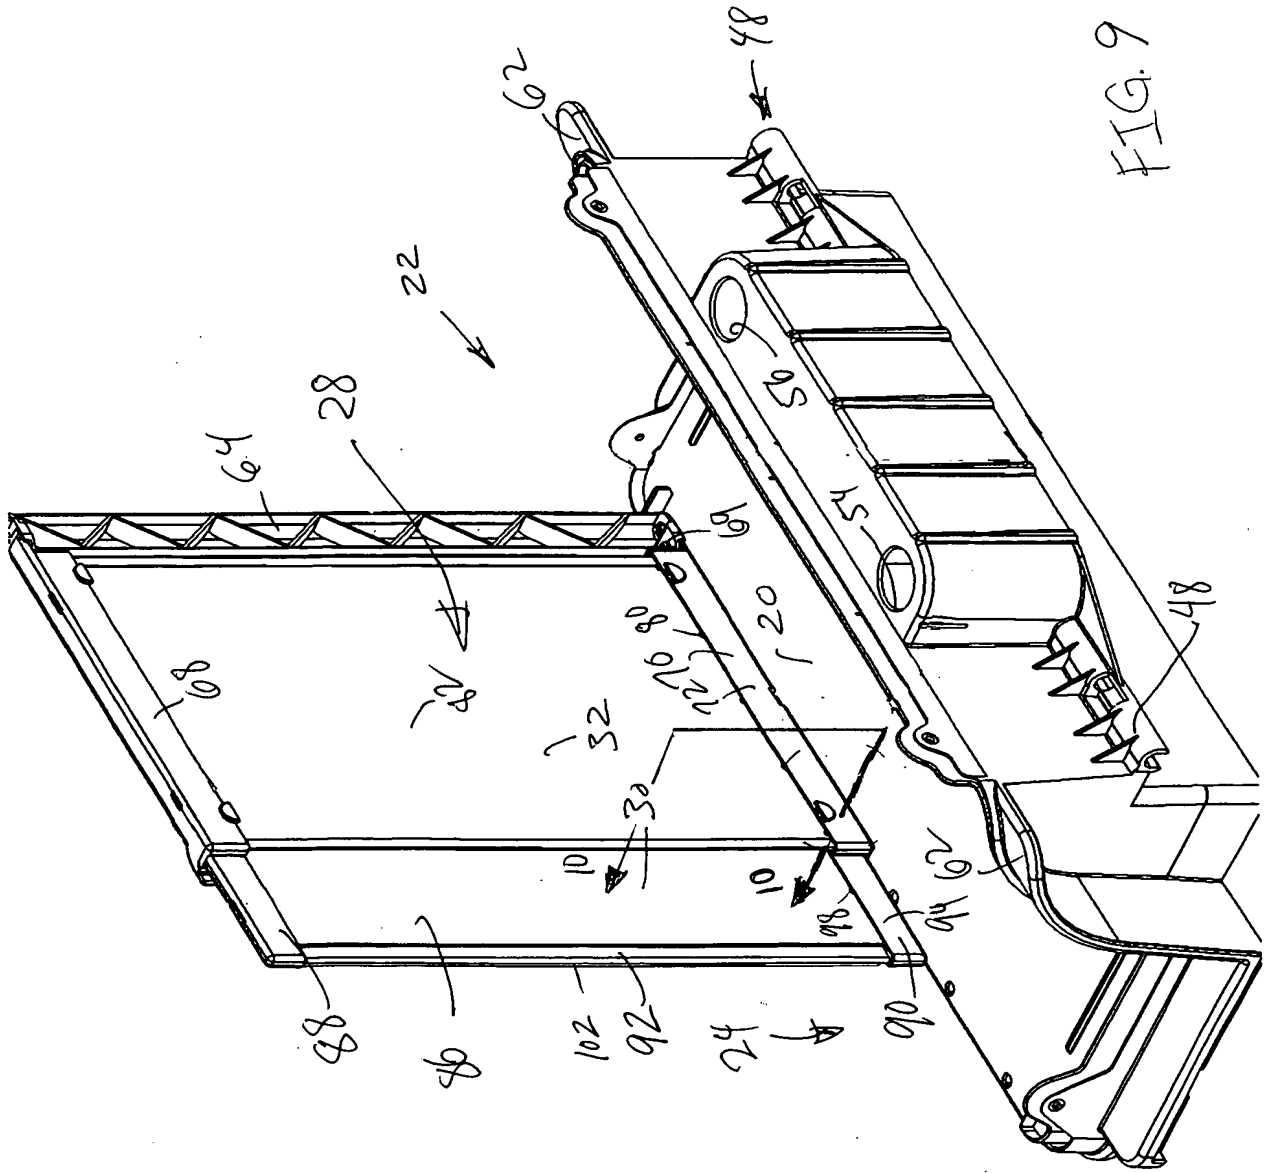

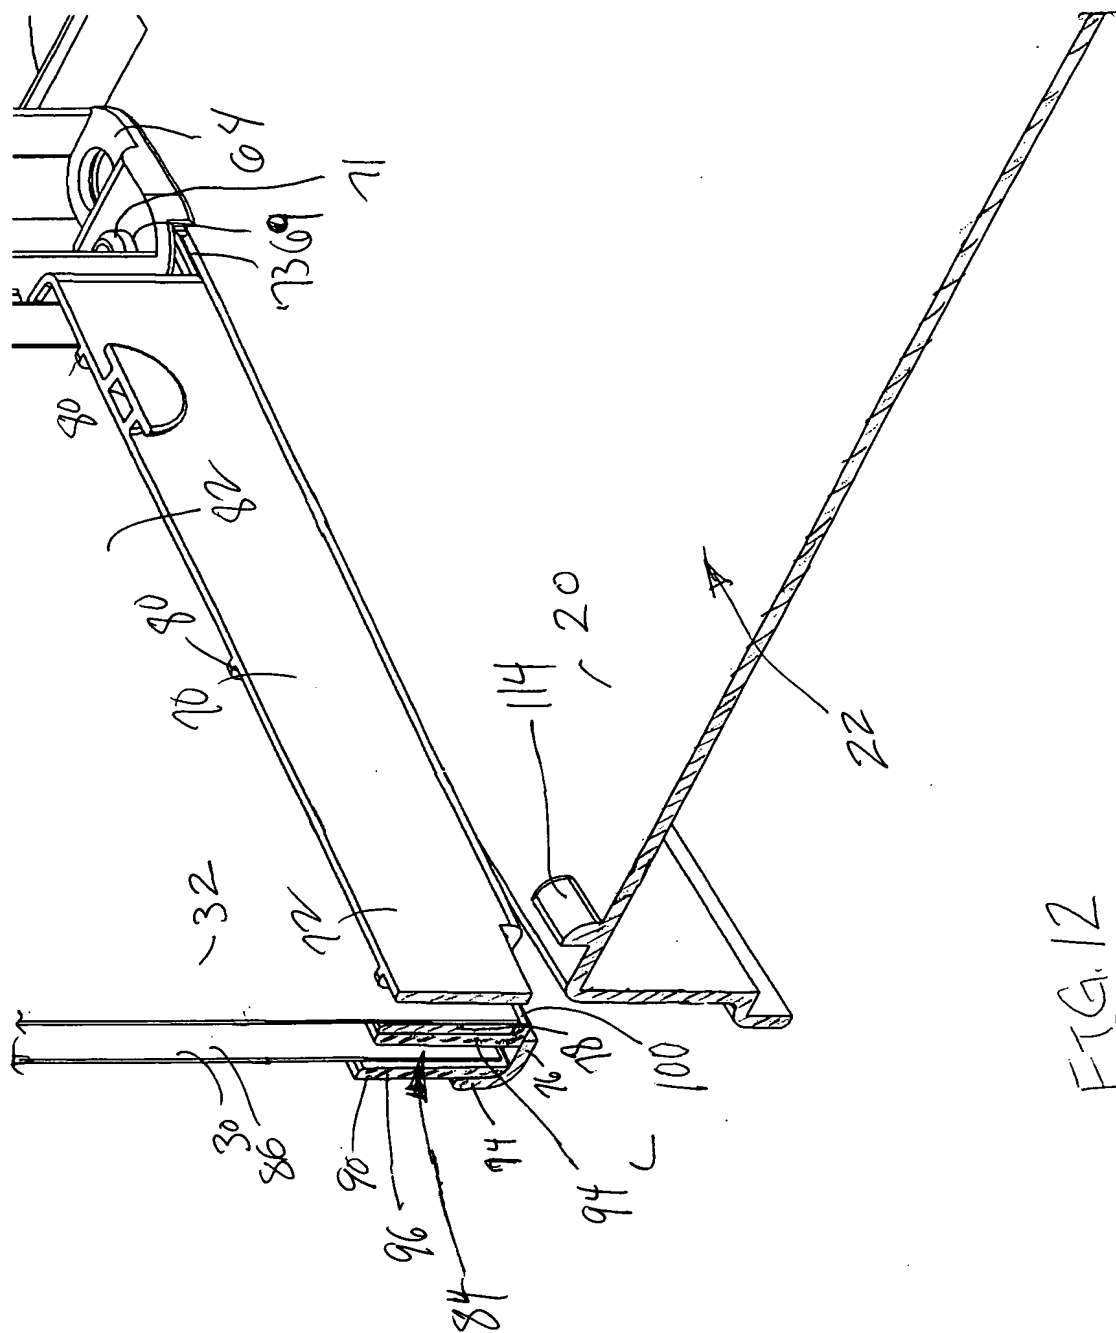

FIG. 9

A circular diagram illustrating the components of the economic environment. At the center is a circle labeled "Economic Environment". Surrounding this central circle are seven rectangular boxes, each representing a different factor. Arrows point from each of these outer boxes towards the central circle, indicating their influence on the overall economic environment. The boxes are labeled as follows: "Government Policy" (top), "Market Structure" (top-right), "Technological Change" (right), "Social Norms" (bottom-right), "Cultural Values" (bottom), "Institutional Framework" (bottom-left), and "Resource Availability" (left).
